It is the Tatoosh School’s mission to foster first-hand learning about the ecology and environmental policy of southern Southeast Alaska.

Tatoosh students achieve a hands-on understanding of aquatic & terrestrial ecology, geography, policy, and community through extended sea kayak expeditions and land-based explorations. Rigorous academics focus on the development of a sense of place and passion for civic engagement, and a sound knowledge of the Pacific Coastal Ecoregion. Students are empowered to explore their surroundings with wide-eyed curiosity and to reach out as active and informed citizens.
